MEASURE PASSED, 45 TO 11

There Was Only Brief Discussion of the Measure, as the Bill Had Been Before the Senate on Several Previous Occasions.

Washington, D. C., June 1.—By the decisive vote of 45 to 11, the Senate yesterday passed the House bill extending the eight-hour principle to contracts involving labor on governmental work. The negative votes were cast by Senators Bradley, Dillingham, Dupont, Gallinger, Heyburn, Oliver, Page, Root, Sanders and Wetmore, Republicans, and Percy, Democrat.

The message had been before the Senate on several occasions and had been fully debated. On this account the discussion yesterday was brief, consisting of statements by Senator Borah, in charge of the measure, and by Senator Bailey of Texas and Senator Sanders of Tennessee.

Mr. Bailey and Mr. Sanders opposed the bill, the former on the ground that the government has no right to restrict the right of any man in the matter of labor, and the latter on the plea that private manufacturing concerns could not continue to take government work with the time limit imposed.

The principle involved in the measure has long been contended for by the labor interests. It provides that "every contract hereafter adopted for the government requiring the employment of laborers or mechanics shall contain a provision that no laborer or mechanic doing any part of the work contemplated by the contract shall be required or permitted to work more than eight hours in one calendar day." A penalty of $5 is imposed for every violation of the provision.

MILITARY AIRSHIP TRIED OUT.
Exceeded Requirements, Going 450 Miles
at Rate of 43 Miles Per Hour.

Hamburg, Germany, June 1.—The new military airship, Zeppelin III, flew from Friedrichs Haven to Hamburg, a distance of 450 miles, at a speed of about 43 miles an hour to-day. The airship easily exceeded the requirements on specifications.

WILLIAMSTOWN.
N. N. Love Appointed Superintendent of Chelsea-Williamstown Union.

The school directors, with the approval of the state superintendent of education, have appointed N. N. Love, now principal of Poulton high school, to be superintendent of the Chelsea-Williamstown union district, take effect at the beginning of the school year, July 1. Mr. Love's home is in Thompsonville, Conn., and he is a graduate of Westminster college and comes highly recommended. The appointment was made May 29 after a personal interview. Mr. Love returned to his work in Poulton May 30.

Frank G. Canning, engineer for the Greason-Beckett Co., has moved from the house on Quarry street that he has occupied for several years, to L. O. Morgan's house on the road to Mill Village.

The baseball team went to Graniteville May 30 and played a game between showers, winning by a score of 11 to 7. The high school team of Chelsea came over to play but the ground was covered with water around first base and the game had to be postponed.

The exercises of Memorial day were carried out according to program, though the day was not favored with sunny weather. The remarks of Mr. DeBor were listened to with much interest and the music, both vocal and instrumental, was much enjoyed. In closing, the chairman, Commander George W. Savery of William Wells post, expressed the wish that the Sons of Veterans would carry on the work that must soon be laid down by the Grand Army.

The scholars in the grades in the village united with the high school in the observance of pre-Memorial day on the afternoon of May 29. Brief remarks were made by Supt. H. D. Casey and directors and several of the veterans of the Civil war were asked to be present and say a word to the pupils. Among these were Olney F. Seaver and George W. Savery. Noted among the visitors from out of town who were formerly residents, were Maynard and Clayton Spencer of Barre; Comrade Jason Johnson of South Barre and Melvin E. Burnham of Waterbury.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Call at Louis Romanis' store to-day and get two bottles of Phoenix for 25c. When Charles H. Dudley's Hanover Independents line up against the B. A. C. on the seminary campus this afternoon, his aggregation will be strengthened by the addition of a new catcher and first baseman. Both of these are Dartmouth variety intelligibles.

Wednesday night about seventy-five people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Burroughs on Church street and tendered them a reception in honor of their silver wedding anniversary. The party came as a great surprise to the couple, as they had not in any way prepared to celebrate the anniversary. The couple were the recipients of a large number of useful silverware gifts. Rev. J. W. Barnett, pastor of the Congregational church, made the presentation of the gifts. Mr. Burroughs responded for himself and wife. A greater part of the evening was spent with music. Mrs. Dwight Cutler entertaining the company with solos. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served later in the evening. The party broke up at an early hour wishing Mr. and Mrs. Burroughs happiness and prosperity.

ONE HIP BROKEN.

Mrs. H. L. Stillson of Bennington Victim of a Fall.

Bennington, June 1.—Attending surgeons have concluded that Mrs. Henry L. Stillson, past grand worthy matron of the grand lodge of Vermont, Order of the Eastern Star, sustained a fracture of the right hip when she fell at her home on School street. Because of the patient's feeble health, it has been impossible to make a thorough examination, but the surgeons decided that there was a complete fracture. They also stated that it would be impossible to attempt to set the broken bone, which makes the condition of the patient the more critical.

TRY TO END STRIKE.

Merchants' Protective Association Committee Offers Services.

Burlington, June 1.—The executive committee of the Merchants' Protective association voted yesterday to tender its services in the hope of bringing about an early settlement of the strike among the Burlington lumber workers. No plan of action was decided upon, but the matter will be taken up at once, and definite steps will be taken, it is expected, the first of next week, unless the labor difficulty should be adjusted before that time.

HOLD COUPLE FOR TRIAL.

They Were Placed Under Bonds After Pleading Not Guilty.

Rutland, June 1.—Mrs. E. H. Millard of Danby and John Morgan of Wallingford, both 29 years of age, were arraigned before Judge F. G. Swinner in city court yesterday on the charge of adultery and were bound over to the September term of Rutland county court in the sum of $600 bail, which they were given 24 hours to furnish. The couple waived examination and pleaded not guilty. C. V. Poulin appearing as their attorney. They were arrested at the home of a relative in Wallingford at 1 o'clock Thursday morning by Deputy Sheriff A. A. Leonard, the officer breaking into the apartment to serve a warrant issued by State's Attorney B. L. Stafford, who had received more than one complaint about the couple. Mr. Millard, who has a five-year-old child, left her husband a few days ago, according to Mr. Stafford. Morgan is not married.

There was considerable argument between counsel for the respondents and the state's attorney as to the amount of bail. Mr. Stafford said that there was no question but that the couple could be convicted under the blanket act and he called the court's attention to the fact that there was nothing to anchor them in this vicinity so that the bail must be sufficient to insure their presence at court. He said that the woman had made overtures to Officer Leonard when he caught them with a view to inducing him to let them go and that the man had endeavored to prevail upon the officers to allow them to escape.

Pre-Memorial exercises were held in the rooms of the village school Wednesday afternoon, and the pupils were to march to the cemetery and decorate the veterans' graves but the heavy rain prevented.

Cattle Commissioner F. I. Davis of White River Junction reports that the condition of the herds which have been tested for tuberculosis over the state is far better than ever before since the testing was begun, 15 years ago, and that the disposition of the farmer to do all in his power to stamp out the plague was also more encouraging. In Orleans county, where conditions were formerly poor, there is seen the greatest improvement, but Chittenden county lags far behind the others and nearly as many claims for diseased cattle are paid in that county as in all of the remainder of the state put together. This is partly because of the indifference of the farmers and partly because of the fact that the disease had obtained. The barns in many cases are infested with the germ and even where a herd has been tested and diseased cattle discovered, there is often no disposition to get a test for which the state is willing to bear the expense.

Laid Low With Bullet.

Mottville, Mich., June 1.—Armed with a rifle and defying arrest, Charles McGinnis, a farm hand, and Rose Kindly, daughter of George Kindly, a farmer, took refuge in a swamp near here after McGinnis had shot the girl's father. Kindly is seriously wounded.

The shooting followed the refusal of Kindly to sanction the marriage of McGinnis and the daughter of the house. According to the latest reports, McGinnis and the girl are holding the deputy sheriff at bay.

TWO BODIES RECOVERED.

That of Miss Helen Smythe Still Missing
at St. Johnsbury.

St. Johnsbury, June 1.—The bodies of two of the victims of Thursday's drowning accident were recovered just before dark yesterday. The first was the body of Miss Helen Ellis which was found about one-fourth of a mile below the point where she was drowned. The searchers began a more thorough search in that vicinity and about two hours later found the body of Herbert Smythe about 10 feet from where Miss Ellis' body was recovered.

The coat was not on the body of Herbert Smythe, indicating that he had thrown it off in the water in an effort to save himself. About 75 yards away engaged in the search all day and dynamite has been exploded in the hope of bringing up the body of Miss Smythe.

WAS IN PARTY OF FIVE.

They Were Strangers to Him; at Least,
He Couldn't Recall Names.

Joseph Rogers, who was arrested on South Main street yesterday noon by Officer George K. Carle, came into city court this forenoon and pleaded guilty before Judge H. W. Scott to a second offense of intoxication. Rogers was asked to disclose, but he told the usual hard luck story of falling in with strangers, whose identity he failed to recall. Rogers said that the party of five companions were seated on a pile of telephone poles near the transformer station on River street when the drinking began. One of the men procured a quantity of whiskey and afterwards Rogers made for South Main street, where he was found by Officer Carle. Judge Scott was reluctant to credit the story and gave the respondent a straight sentence of thirty days in the county jail at Montpelier, the state paying the costs.

WOMAN ATTACKED BY DOG.

Not Seriously Hurt as She Was Protected by Heavy Coat.

Complaint reached the police station this forenoon that a vicious dog had attacked a woman on Merchant street, tearing her clothing and inflicting a slight wound in the arm. The officers were notified by faculty members at Goddard seminary, who claimed that the dog was a menace to students passing along Merchant street. A boy living in the vicinity furnishes the information that this morning's incident was not the dog's first offense, and as police headquarters was furnished with the number of the canine's home, it is likely that some action will be taken in the matter. The woman assailed by the dog was fortunately wearing a heavy coat, so that the animal's fangs did not penetrate deeply into the flesh.

DAYS AS BARBER SHOP ENDED.

Shortly a Restaurant Will Take Place of the Old Holt Shop.

When H. A. Holt locks the door of his lower barber shop in the Mascott estate building to-night and delivers the key to the new lessees, who are to operate a restaurant in the space vacated by the present tenant, the oldest tenorial stand in the city will pass out of existence. Thirty-five years ago, a man named Viette came to Barre and opened a barber shop in the north side of the building. It was an early day in the history of the new Barre and then there were many less shops than at the present time. Shops then employed few barbers and were occupied by fewer customers. The barbering business there has since been conducted by four different persons and Mr. Holt, who closes the shop to combine the trade with the business of his upper shop, is the last of the four, Viette, Hubbard, Wheeler and Holt.

The outgoing proprietor has shaved his customers in the Mascott building for the past twenty-six years, although he has owned the shop for only fifteen. Last fall Mr. Holt rented space in the basement of the Boyce-Durkee block and finished off one of the finest and most commodious barber shops in the state. At that time he made allowance for several more chairs than the number already in use, with the idea of combining his shops within the near future. The change will go into effect Monday morning. During his lease of the shop in the Mascott building, Mr. Holt has always enjoyed a generous share of the public patronage and it goes without saying that customers who have visited the old shop in the past, will find the accommodations equalled and increased in the combined shop.

Plans for the establishment of a restaurant in the Mascott building have not been announced yet, but it is understood that the promoters are men familiar with the business of catering. The place will be opened for business within a few days.

J. N. GALL APPOINTED
GENERAL AGENT TO-DAYBarre Man Promoted to Succeed A. A.
Stebbins, Who Was Recently Appointed
Superintendent of Montpelier & Wells
River and Barre Railroads.

Announcement was made to-day of the appointment of James N. Gall of Barre to be general agent for the Montpelier & Wells River and Barre railroads, the appointment to become effective immediately. The order is as follows:

"Montpelier, Vt., June 1, 1912.

"Effective this date Mr. J. N. Gall is appointed general agent at Barre, Vt."

"All employees, including switching crews, trainmen and engineers at Barre, will respect his orders accordingly."

(Signed) "A. A. Stebbins."

This appointment is made to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Mr. Stebbins to be superintendent to succeed the late F. W. Stanyan and is a deserved promotion for Mr. Gall, who has been agent for the Montpelier & Wells River railroad in charge of the local freight department since September 19, 1910, and prior to that he was cashier and billing clerk in the freight office, having served, altogether, four years with the Montpelier & Wells River road. Before going with this railroad, he was employed three years in the Barre office of the Central Vermont railroad, having the position of cashier and billing clerk. He came to Barre from London, Ontario.

In his employment with the railroad companies he has given good and efficient service, and he carries the good will of the general public to his higher duties as general agent for the two local adjuncts of the Boston & Maine system. As in the past the superintendent will have the oversight of the Barre business, but the immediate charge of the Montpelier & Wells River and the Barre railroads, after this date, will be in the hands of Mr. Gall.

PLACED WRIT
ON MANAGEREx-Musical Director of "The Gay Musician" Sad at Treatment

HE WAS ASKED TO RESIGN

Manager M. J. Kavanagh's Company Was Therefore Held Up in Barre for a Time
To-day Because of the Legal Obstacle Placed in Its Way.

After having been delayed by a writ of attachment on the properties and scenery, Manager M. J. Kavanagh's "The Gay Musician" company will leave this noon at 12:25 for St. Johnsbury to present the piece this evening. According to the statement given out this morning the legal proceedings that interrupted the company's departure were the outcome of a personal miff against the musical director of the company, Gustav Hemple, who was asked to resign in Plattsburg, N. Y., because of alleged over-indulgence in liquor. When the company arrived in Burlington yesterday on its way to Burlington, Hemple was ready with a writ of trover demanding his trunk. The baggage was turned over to him, but according to the story the manager found out later that the key to the trunk containing the musical properties was in Hemple's possession.

Hemple is said to have refused to produce the key and was lodged in jail on an intoxication charge, the company proceeding to Barre in the meantime, after securing a new director. The writ of attachment served on the company's property during the performance last evening, it was claimed, was the outcome of civil proceedings brought by Hemple against Kavanagh, who the former alleges struck him in the face.

Manager Kavanagh contends that the attachment process would be of no benefit to Hemple and adds that it is simply the device of his discharged director to get even with what he seems to consider an unfair deal. The manager also says that Hemple was treated squarely by the company and given every opportunity to make good. Last evening, after the deputy sheriff had served the writ, the manager retained the services of Attorney John W. Gordon. The company planned to leave for St. Johnsbury at 7:20 this morning, but it was a few hours later before the attachment was released.

A mere handful of people witnessed the presentation of "The Gay Musician" at the Barre opera house last night, and they were disappointed in the wind-up of a season which has had many meritorious productions. "The Gay Musician" was a misnomer, as the manner of presentation was far from gay.

The Burlington End.

The preliminary chapters to the Barre episode were told in to-day's Burlington Free Press, as follows:

"When the steamer Vermont came into port yesterday morning, it had on board just as sore an artistic temperament as it is possible to create, in the person of Gustav Hemple, musical director of 'The Gay Musician' opera company, which appeared at the Strong a few weeks ago. Also on board were the members of the company, and it was with M. J. Kavanagh, manager, that Gustav was in trouble.

"It seems that Hemple, who played the part of the gay musician himself on Memorial day in Plattsburg, where the show played that night, appeared at the theatre in an intoxicated condition and, according to the stories of members of the company, did his best to queer the show. He was consequently discharged, and when he reached Burlington his wrath knew no bounds. To pacify his outraged soul, he took potatoes, both large and small, and rode around furiously from place to place in hacks.

"At last he hit on a plan for revenge and had a warrant sworn out for the manager of the show, claiming that the latter would not give him possession of his trunk. Consequently, Deputy Sheriff L. W. Ravlin executed a warrant on Kavanagh, and it was found that no impediment was placed in the way of getting the musician's trunk. Kavanagh then got back at Hemple by getting a warrant out on his own hook, as Hemple refused to give up the keys of the company's trunk which contained the music and other paraphernalia.
